GERMAN GRIP SLIPS ON ALL NORTH RUSSIA

Nazi Transportation System Shows Signs of Collapsing as Reds Near Pskov.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Feb. 29—All territory held by the Germans in northwest Russia is now gravely threatened by the Red army drive on Pskov and there is evidence the Nazi transportation system in some places is becoming disorganized, dispatches from the Baltic front declared today.

(The British radio, quoting the Soviet army newspaper Red Star, said the Russians now were "fighting inside the German defense around Pskov," with advanced Red army units "within sight of the fortress city."

("The Germans are resisting fiercely, especially along the main road, and the Red army has to fight hard for every village it takes," said the broadcast recorded by the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service.)

Pskov Already Under Fire

With the vanguard of the Russian forces less than 12 miles away, Pskov was reported to be already under fire from Red army siege guns.

(Earlier, a London interpretation of the Russian communique placed the Russians six miles northeast of Pskov at the town of Toroshino, on the Luga-Pskov railway.)

A dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star from the Pskov front said in many sectors roads are so clogged with wrecked German transport, guns and tanks that special Soviet cleanup squads have been formed to clear them away to enable the Red army to march through on the heels of the retreating enemy.

With colder weather now prevailing, night fighting is increasing and Red Star said specially trained Soviet soldiers are pursuing the Germans through the dark hours.

Farther south, Gen. M. M. Popov's army was reputed smashing through German communication lines and fortifications just east of the Latvian border. At one point Russian troops were only 12 miles from the frontier.

Advance Below Pskov

With the Russians making great headway in this region approximately 70 miles below Pskov it appeared evident German positions around Pskov cannot long be held, dispatches said.

The Soviet communique asserted desertion and defeatism are widespread in German ranks and said actual mutiny had broken out on the Leningrad front last month. Military prisons in Pskov are reported overflowing with these men, brought there in irons.

RED CROSS WORKER DIES IN ACTION. Mrs. Esther Richards, 46-year-old San Francisco social worker, is the first Red Cross worker to lose her life in this war. She was killed Feb. 7 during a Nazi air raid on the Anzio beachhead, where she was working in a receiving hospital.

Collett Wins Point in Trial

Court Sustains Objection to Prosecutor's Questioning of Prospective Jurors.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Feb. 29—James W. Collett won a point in his first degree murder trial today as Common Pleas Judge H. M. Rankin instructed the state to mention during examination of jurors, no details of the slayings last Thanksgiving eve of the rich Elmer McCoy family.

The ruling came as the climax of a flare-up between opposing counsel over questions directed to prospective jurors. While 10 jurors were named in yesterday's opening session, not a single one had been picked as today's morning session neared its end.

Charles Kirk, one of Collett's attorneys, protested that questions to jurors by Simon L. Leis, an assistant prosecutor, were constructed "in the hope of qualifying as juror someone who has an opinion."

Collett's Lawyer Objects

Charles A. Burke, a farmer called as one of the special venire of 75, said he was opposed to imposition of the death penalty, and Leis asked:

"Would you retain that opinion no matter how atrocious the crime?"

Kirk interposed:

"Counsel for the state is demanding the death penalty even before a jury is qualified."

"The state says now that it is going to demand the death penalty," Leis replied.

Burke was dismissed and the next prospective juror, Paul Van Vorhis, was told by Leis:

"The motive the state of Ohio will prove in this case—"

The defense staff objected instantly, and Judge Rankin upheld the objection.

The state, he ruled, could inquire of prospective jurors only so far as to determine whether they would object to the death penalty "in this case should the facts warrant." No mention, he said, could be made of details of the crime.

RED CROSS SET TO OPEN DRIVE

Worker Rally Tonight at 7:30 in Central Junior High; Canvass Begins Wednesday.

Leaders and workers for the 1944 Red Cross War Fund drive in Marion city and county will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Central Junior High school when the campaign will be officially launched with a program of talks.

The public in general is invited to attend the meeting for which Lt. Col. Frank Cheshire, commanding officer at Camp Millard, Bucyrus, will be the speaker. On the speaker's program also will be Floyd Lashey, honorably discharged from service after being with the armed forces in India and China, and Sgt. Lloyd Strawser, home on furlough from Hawaii after more than two years' service in foreign war areas. Robert T. Mason, Red Cross chairman, will preside.

Workers will go into the field tomorrow morning to raise $56,000. Marion county's share of the $200,000,000, the goal set by the National Red Cross. While the national organization has designated the entire month of March as the time for the drive, the Marion county workers, headed by J. D. Torrance, campaign chairman, will aim to complete their work by March 15.

Plans are being completed today for the opening of the drive. In the last week pre-campaign meetings have been held by many of the workers' groups and informative literature was distributed. Organization of teams in the city and county were to be completed today.

Completing the list of workers in the city are: Precinct 2 A—Mrs. Clifford Irey, chairman, Mrs. John Guthrie, Mrs. Arthur Erwin, Mrs. O. A. Long; Precinct 4 D—Mrs. Fred Holtz, chairman, Mrs. Howard Lehner, Mrs. R. H. Pauling, Mrs. R. W. Beverly, Mrs. Paul Hoch, Mrs. O. B. Morrison, Mrs. Ivan Graham, Mrs. Paul Emery, Mrs. Roland Leeper, Mrs. Marion Apple.

Workers added to the team in Precinct 1 C are Mrs. Mildred Sidenstricker and Mrs. J. M. Crea-

BRUNSWICK HIT AGAIN TODAY BY U. S. BOMBERS

Heavy U. S. Planes Carry Out 19th Operation of Month Against Germany.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 29—U. S. heavy bombers in their 19th operation for February today attacked targets at Brunswick, classified by the army as "one of Germany's major manufacturers of aircraft components and engines, and an important communications center."

A communique noted that "Brunswick targets twice were attacked in last week's record-breaking daylight offensive against Nazi aircraft component, assembly and allied industries."

U. S. and British fighter planes protected the Flying Fortresses in today's assault.

19 February Operations

The February total of 19 operations is seven more than that attained in any previous month. The 18th operation was an attack yesterday against the French "rocket" coast in which six bombers were lost. Allied medium bombers and fighters struck at the same targets from dawn to noon today.

It was the fourth great daylight blow of the month against Brunswick, big airplane manufacturing center 125 miles west of Berlin which turns out chiefly engines and other parts for the twin-engine Messerschmitt-110 fighter.

Returning Fortress fliers reported they bombed through heavy clouds. This may have prevented a repetition of the great Jan. 11 aerial battle over the same target in which 60 bombers and 152 German fighters were shot down.

May Set Record

The first crews back said their escort of fighters was so big their number may set a record. German fighter opposition was light but the Germans sent up a heavy anti-aircraft barrage.

Four-engined Liberators joined lighter planes today in dumping another heavy load of explosives on German military objectives around Pas-De-Calais on the French coast today.

American and British medium and light bombers were making almost continuous darting attacks on the "rocket gun" coast.

MARION MAY ENTER 48-HR. WEEK CLASS

Possibility of Working Schedule Change Seen.

Marion today faced the possibility of a 48-hour work week as the result of labor surveys that may place Marion and the nearby area in the War Manpower Commission's Group 2.

The Marion area has been in Group 2 before but the 48-hour week was never ordered into effect. The Marion area is now in Group 3, but recent manpower studies indicate it soon may go into Group 2, and if that happens, the 48-hour work week is almost inevitable.

Various phases of the situation were studied by the Marion Area War Manpower committee at its regular meeting Monday night in the office of Fred B. Scherff, Marion WMC and USES manager.

Plan Explained

The 48-hour week would apply not only to war industries but to business generally, although there is provision for businesses where the 48-hour week would not help the manpower situation to seek exemption from it. The aim of the program is to extend working hours to increase war production and, in non-military lines of business, to release workers from stores and offices to work in war plants. The purpose is to make fuller use of existing manpower in the area.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Destruction of 14 Japanese vessels by American submarines was announced today by Secretary of the Navy Knox.

The sinkings, Knox said, included 11 medium cargo vessels, a small cargo vessel, a cargo transport and a larger tanker. They brought to 611 the number of Japanese ships of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by American submarines.

Knox also reported that for February, not including today,

JAPANESE SEE DANGER AHEAD

German News Agency Says Man-in-the-Street Worries About Attack.

By The Associated Press

American advances in the Pacific have jolted Japan's man-in-the-street into an awareness that his island is now a party of the front which may become before long a target for allied air assaults, a German Transocean News agency broadcast said today.

"This feeling has been awakened among the entire Japanese nation by the appearance of the U. S. fleet off the Marianas," said a dispatch broadcast by Berlin.

A government order prohibiting open fires in Tokyo houses up to 4 p. m. two days weekly, the axis report said, had its share "in giving Tokyo's inhabitants the feeling they are now directly included in the front area."

It stated "Japan must be prepared at any time to sight enemy bombers," but added "it is doubtful whether the Americans in the near future will undertake on the Japanese motherland air raids which could only be nuisance sweeps."

Japs' Eyes Opened

American fleet units were last reported making heavy air attacks on enemy bases in the Marianas, less than 1,400 miles from Tokyo, on Feb. 22, and the German broadcast credited this blow with opening Japanese eyes to "what space devouring force there is in modern warfare." The broadcaster added "it seems" that the Japanese are not willing to use their fleet in waters where the Americans might have air supremacy."

The closing of "all places of entertainment which are not necessary to the war effort" will be effected March 5 by government order, another Berlin broadcast reported.

Those deprived of a living by the closing of their businesses will receive financial compensation and tax reductions.

Government offices may not even close Sundays. Officials' trips will be restricted.

More than 200 planes poured 164 tons of bombs Saturday on Rabaul's harbor and one of its protecting airdromes and according to the communique, "pilots reported very heavy destruction."

The raid was the 12th consecutive daily strike and the seventh consecutive time the Japanese failed to get a single interceptor into the air.

Rabaul Pounded Heavily

Rabaul's defenders have been pounded with 2,205 tons of bombs during the last 26 days—the worst mauling any Japanese position has taken in the south Pacific. Rabaul has been shelled twice by Marauding destroyer forces.

The destroyer squadron leader, Capt. Arleigh T. (30-Knot) Burke, told Associated Press War Correspondent Vern Haughland the Japanese apparently have given up hopes of retaining Rabaul. "I think those stranded and deserted Japs will collapse, but not soon," Burke said.

Other enemy bases in the south Pacific to take heavy blows from the allied air force included Wewak, New Guinea, where 80 tons of bombs were dropped; Alitape, 90 miles northwest of Wewak, and the Admiralty islands in the Bismarck sea. Wasingapen, on Soemba island in the Dutch East Indies, also was hit.

On the Burma front, British troops continued mopping up operations after knocking out an enemy threat of 6,000 to the Akyab jungle north of Akyab. The [illegible] was placed at [illegible] Lash.

HELP PLEDGED FROM SWEDEN

Stockholm Promises To Provide Food If Finns Quit War.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 29 — The Finnish parliament met in closed session for an hour this morning and heard Premier Edwin Linkomies explain the government's position regarding an armistice or continued war with Russia, it was reported from Helsinki.

The legislators then recessed until afternoon when another secret session was scheduled.

A reliable informant said Sweden would do its best to provide food for Finland if she quit the war.

While a Swedish government spokesman refused to say whether an offer of food actually had been made to the Finnish government, it was a good guess the government had given the Finns some assurance on that point.

Swedish press comment and public opinion generally were hopeful. Finland could find some way out.

Peace Not Yet Blocked

It was believed nothing yet had happened that definitely would prevent a Finnish-Russian armistice even though the Finnish attitude had altered perceptibly.

The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet's Helsinki correspondent said Finland's answer to the American admonition to get out of the war could not be delayed longer and hinted at some imminent development.

He added the Finns are aware a decision must be made on the basis of cold realities.

Dagens Nyheter editorialized that the Finnish people now had all the information necessary to make their decision.

Stiffening of the Finnish attitude was reflected in an Helsinki dispatch quoting the newspaper Social Demokratti as asserting Russian air raids on the Finnish capital may have jeopardized peace negotiations.

Force and threats, as Russia must know of old, will only give rise to opposite reaction," said the paper, mouthpiece of Finance Minister Viano Tanner's strong Social Democrat party.

An apparent reluctance of the Finnish government to abandon its present policy was further indicated in a freshly-signed Finnish-German trade treaty, announced last night.

Finland has depended largely on Germany for food supplies throughout the war.

Evidence of the "wait and see" tendency was reported by an informant with contacts in the Finnish foreign office who has just returned from Helsinki. He said he also found hope "that American and British opinion still is on Finland's side and that sooner or later the Anglo-Americans would help."

Object to Two Points

He added the Finns seemed willing to discuss all points of Russia's reported terms except that calling for internment of all German military personnel now in Finland and permission for Russian troops to enter the country.

He said he talked with a wide circle of Finns in government and business circles.

"They are willing to give up Petsamo and the nearby nickel mines, a hard economic blow though it may be. But they are unwilling to yield Viipuri or Hangoe.

"They know they must surrender the Karelian isthmus but would like to hang on to at least a part of it.

"There may be peace because the Finns are willing to discuss this problem but there can be no peace if a single Russian crosses the border."

(A London broadcast, quoting Stockholm sources, said a "government statement about the Russian armistice is expected" at a meeting of the Finnish diet today.)

RATION POINTS ON MEAT CUT

Pork and Beef To Cost Fewer Stamps, Starting Next Sunday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Sharp reductions in the ration point values of pork and many beef cuts will go into effect Sunday.

But the ration values of veal, lamb, mutton, butter, cheese, lard and all other fats and dairy products will remain unchanged through March, the office of price administration announced today.

Only the values of spare ribs are unaffected in a general reduction of pork points. The cuts range from one to three points, bringing the average ration value of pork down to 1.7 points a pound. Beef cuts used for roasts, rib steaks and stews are also reduced.

The point value of canned and ready-to-eat beef and pork items are reduced from 4 to 6 points, while many variety meats and some types of sausage also are decreased in ration cost.

The reductions came as a surprise since the OPA had indicated point values would be boosted steadily during the next few months. Marketing of more livestock than had been anticipated was given as the principal reason.

Allowance for Change

"The lower meat point values also make full allowance to the housewife," said Price Administrator Chester Bowles, "for the fact that with ration stamps now to be worth ten points each, she'll get one red point a week less to spend.

"In the case of beef, too, we expect to have somewhat more in March than during February," Bowles said.

The over-all average ration value of meat in March will be 4.2 points a pound as compared with an average of approximately 5 points in February.

The revision of meat values takes into account, the agency explained, that from now on each individual will have 60 points to spend each month on rationed meats and fats, 4 points less than in the past.

Meat Supply Up

The OPA estimated despite this point reduction the meat ration in March will be about 8 per cent greater than in February.

The retail supply of pork during March is expected to be

CLASS B TOURNEY DRAWINGS LISTED

Marion County Teams Scheduled To Start Thursday.

Marion county teams will swing into action in the Class B district basketball tournament at Westerville Thursday and Friday as a result of drawings completed last night at Westerville. Marion St. Mary Parochial cagers will meet Lancaster St. Mary Friday in the game, that will complete the first round contests.

First Marion county team to see action will be Pleasant, which will play Byhalia Thursday at 6 p. m. Two hours later LaRue and Richwood will meet, and at 9 p. m. Claridon and Sparta of Morrow county will be matched.

Second round games will start Saturday at 1 p. m. with eight games scheduled for the day. Semi-finals in the two brackets will be played Thursday, March 9, and the finals on Saturday, March 11. There will be winners selected in each of the two brackets at Westerville and both of these will go to the Springfield regional tourney. The two bracket winners at Westerville will not meet, so consequently there will be no single Class B district champ.

The Westerville drawing was

Greatest Sea Force in History Struck Crippling Blow at Truk

American Planes and Ships Explode Myth of Impregnability of Big Japanese Island Base.

ABOARD A BATTLESHIP OFF TRUK, CAROLINE ISLANDS, Feb. 17—(Delayed)—This task force of aircraft carriers and new battleships—the greatest concentration of naval striking power in history—has exploded the myth of Truk's impregnability.

A surprise lightning strike out of a cloudy dawn by Hellcat fighters wiped out nearly all the planes defending this kingpin Japanese fortress and supply base in the Caroline islands.

In all, 127 Japanese planes were destroyed in the air and 74 on the ground—a total of 201. More than 50 more planes on the ground were damaged.

After the first fighter strike, Avenger torpedo planes and new Helldiver divebombers blasted targets at will for most of the two days.

Now we are retiring with Truk's lagoon well littered with sunken ships and burned-out hulks.

Thirty-six ships were caught in the lagoon anchorages the first day. On the second day, 10 remained. Five there were left on the last strike before we pulled out. Carrier-based bombers set fire to fuel and ammunition dumps.

We lost 17 planes.

With his planes knocked out, the enemy couldn't fight back except with anti-aircraft fire.

No bombing or surface attack was made on our vast formation of the fastest, hardest hitting warships afloat.

Truk's defenders apparently had been lulled into rear-base security since the start of the war and just had to take it on the chin.

The Truk attack by a force commanded by Vice Admiral Raymond A. Spruance had several purposes. One was to prevent Japanese air interference with the amphibious invasion of Eniwetok atoll in the Marshalls this morning. Another was to find out Truk's strength and to

FINAL REPORT GIVEN ON FOURTH WAR LOAN

County 158 Per Cent of Goal; E Total 114 Per Cent.

The books closed in Marion county on the Fourth War Loan last night, and drive leaders proudly summarized Marion county's accomplishments in the nationwide campaign.

The county raised $4,498,650 in all denominations for a rousing 158.5 per cent of its $2,838,000 quota.

In E bonds, which was the big concern of the treasury department in this campaign, the showing also was impressive with sales total $939,040 or more than 114 per cent of the $819,000 quota.

Yesterday's sales of $36,750 in E bonds and total sales of $46,842.50 for the day helped boost the final figures to the levels announced today.

Sales yesterday were the last that will have time to clear through the federal reserve bank at Cleveland before Wednesday, March 1.

AUTO LICENSE SALE TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY

Title of Ownership Needed To Obtain New Tag.

Issuing of the 1944 automobile, truck, trailer and motorcycle plates will begin tomorrow at the office of the deputy registrar at 121 West Church street. The office will be open from 8.30 a. m. to 5 p. m and will remain open during the noon hour, James E. Messenger, deputy registrar, state department of motor vehicles, said.

To obtain a license for any motor vehicle, it will be necessary for the owner to present the title of ownership or bill of sale at the time application is made. Also the owner must make oath to the statements contained in the application before the deputy registrar or any other person authorized to administer oaths.

License plate numbers are issued in consecutive, numerical order and only one regular size metal license plate will be issued for 1944, this to be placed on the rear bracket of the vehicle and the license plate now in use removed from the front of the vehicle. No windshield stickers will be used, officials said.

Deadline for using the 1943 licenses is March 31, and 1944 license plates must be displayed on and after April 1.

Forest Man Reported Missing in Action

Special to The Star

FOREST—Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Brown of Forest, received a telegram from the war department Friday informing them that their son, Sgt. Don R. Brown, is missing in action. Sgt. Brown was nose turret gunner of an army bomber. In January his parents received a letter stating that he had arrived in North Africa on Dec. 26. In the letter he told of spending Christmas day in Brazil and the following day was in Africa.

A letter mailed January 4 stated he had arrived somewhere in Italy and was feeling fine. Later letters indicated his bomber group was working from air bases in Italy.

Badoglio's Stand Presents Allies Touchy Problem

By DAWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio's insistence, as premier of the provisional Italian government, that his defeated country be made a member in good standing among the United Nations, presents the allies with one of the extraordinary problems of the war.

The famous soldier—73 but still active and full of fight—told Richard G. Massock, Associated Press correspondent who visited the premier at Naples that he is "ready to do everything necessary" to gain the alliance for which he has asked. Badoglio intimated that his idea was to protect Italy's interests at the peace table after helping to defeat Germany.

The situation isn't without its touches both of humor and (to not a few) of extreme annoyance. It's hard to decide whether the doughty old warrior's voice is that of the penitent prodigal (with a weather eye on the fatted calf) or whether it's an exhibition of nerve.

French Haven't Forgotten

Anyway, if any one but Badoglio had made such a proposition there likely would have been more adverse reaction than already has been registered — and there has been plenty. The French, for instance, don't easily forget that the treacherous Mussolini stabbed la belle France in the back while she was struggling for her life with Hitler. The idea of making Italy one of the allies now nauseates a lot of them.

A good many people of other allied countries also feel that there's no need to kill the fatted calf for Italy, even though there's no general bitterness against the rank and file of the Italian people who probably were more sinned against by Mussolini than sinning. Then, too many of our troops, who have had to fight the Italians, and have seen comrades shot down by the Romans, have no desire to sit about the camp fire with the men who were so recently their enemies.

Still, few people deny Badoglio the right to try to get all he can for his stricken country. He wouldn't be much of a premier if he didn't try it. Also even Badoglio's severest critics remember that this man, who started life in peasant's cottage and rose to be duke and supreme chief of the general staff of the Italian army, begged to be allowed to crush Mussolini when the latter made his march to Rome to demand the dictatorship. True, Badoglio later led il duce's armies, but he did so as a servant of the king who had handed the government over to Mussolini.

Sums Up Situation

Correspondent Cassock summed up the position of Badoglio's application for an alliance this way: "While Badoglio didn't say so himself, associates told me afterward that the American and British governments had given him no encouragement to expect an alliance."

Italy, of course, already is recognized as a co-belligerent by the allies. Whatever may be the decision regarding an alliance, there can be no doubt that Italy must pay dearly for her partnership with Hitler. Unless there is an amazing change of heart in the allies camp, she will never get back the bulk of her empire. She will be reduced to one of the minor European powers, stripped of any striking power with which to practice further aggression.

Badoglio also told Massock that he intended to stay in power with his present government until King Vittorio Emanuele "finds a better one"—a stand hotly contested by the Italian committee of national liberation which wants the ruler to abdicate. On Feb. 22 British Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons:

"Should we succeed in the present battle and enter Rome—as I trust and believe we shall—we shall be free to review the whole Italian political position and we shall do so with many advantages which we do not possess at the present time. It is from Rome that a more broadly based Italian government can be formed."

SENIOR CLASS PLAY IS SET FOR APRIL 20

"Summer at the Seagull" To Be Presented.

Selection of the Harding Senior class play and the date for its presentation was announced today by Miss Lucile Foreman, member of the High school faculty and senior play coach. The play selected is "Summer at the Seagull," and the date is Thursday, April 20, at the Palace theater. Matinee and evening performances will be given.

The play is a story of a summer theater school and stage struck youngsters who live in another world when they are in the midst of a play. How the coming of Judy Jerome, famous movie star, affects the lives of those at the Seagull and the change one summer makes in her own life is the theme of the play presented in three acts.

There are 25 parts in the play, 17 for girls and eight for boys. John Bryans, class of '43 and a member of The Marion Star editorial staff, is designing the set and L. R. Welch will be in charge of construction. Costmues will be modern and will be supervised by Miss Pauline Stannard. Makeup will be in charge of Miss Marian Conley, and publicity chairman is Miss Ruth Turner. Miss Isabelle Stump is arranging for ushers and Miss Winnie Winder heads the committee in charge of ticket distribution. J. H. Smith will be in charge of reservations.

or possibly new war contracts provided they can be handled in a six-month period. At the same time, it prevents factories in the area from going into other areas to seek employes—on the contrary, it lets the bars down for factories in other areas to come here to look for employes.

What Change Would Do

If Marion goes into Group 2, its factories will be entitled to renewal of contracts that can be completed in six months without additional employes, but with little chance of getting new contracts. However, the move would tighten manpower controls so far as workers leaving the area is concerned and would enable factories here to recruit workers elsewhere if necessary.

At last night's meeting, V. J. McMullen was seated on the committee as a representative of railroad management and William Laughman as a representative of railroad labor, increasing the size of the committee to 10. John Hoctor was seated as an AFL labor representative to take the place formerly held by L. B. Geer.

C. A. Bennett, assistant to Ralph Gabele of Columbus who is area WMC director for District 4 which includes Marion, attended the committee meeting.

Prisoner Kills Fellow Inmate at Mansfield

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 29—Angered because fellow inmates at the Ohio state reformatory here teased him with a package of cigarets, Michael Kotun, 13, of Cuyahoga county, stabbed and killed Melvin Freeman, 23, of Jefferson county last night, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke reported.

Glattke said Kotun struck out at the group blindly with a pair of garden shears and reached Freeman.

The victim had entered the reformatory Oct. 23, 1941, sentenced to 1 to 15 years for breaking and entering. Kotun was admitted March 16, 1943, under a similar sentence for burglary.

VARIED VIEWS GIVEN ON USE OF TOKENS

Some "Confusion" Reported from Marion Stores.

With the use of ration tokens as change for food ration stamps going into effect generally yesterday morning, Marion grocers and purchasers joined in the widespread speculation on "what it will be like."

Results in Marion retail groceries and meat markets seem to have been somewhat varied, from reports yesterday afternoon.

On hand for use of Marion's more than 100 groceries and dozen meat markets were a total of 141,750 red or meat tokens and 80,000 blue or processed foods tokens given out by banks of the city, distributing agents.

Numbers of tokens used varied considerably, one large retail grocery firm figuring its use of the token disks at over 1,200 while a similar company reported very few used. A smaller grocery reported a medium number handled. Some merchants declared the new medium of change to be considerably confusing while others expressed the opinion that the system was "working out pretty good." A number agreed that the innovation seemed to slow up handling of customers' purchases. By the end of the week, however, it is expected the new system will be working with comparatively little confusion.

Deffenbacker To Run for State Auditor

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29 — State Finance Director H. D. Deffenbacker took out nominating petitions today for state auditor on the Republican ticket. A native of Dover, Deffenbacker spent 24 years in the auditor's office until he was named superintendent of the budget in 1939 when Gov. Bricker took office and a year later was named finance director.

Judge Edward S. Matthias of the supreme court, a Republican, took out petitions for renomination. Judge Edward L. Hart, also a Republican, has announced he will run again.

Serially Numbered Gas Coupons To Be Issued

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 — Issuance of new serially-numbered strips of gasoline ration coupons to eligible holders of B, C, E, and R books will begin tomorrow.

The OPA said today the new coupons are expected to reduce materially the illegal diversion of gasoline tickets into black market channels. The numbered tickets can be instantly checked and the legal owner required to account for them.

BRITISH BREAK UP BEACHHEAD ATTACK

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, Feb. 29—British troops broke up a series of small German attacks in the ravine territory southwest of Carroceto on the beachhead front yesterday while allied troops mopped up Nazis who wriggled through the lines near Cassino, it was announced today.

For the British in the Carroceto rezion it was the second straight day of skirmishing with the enemy in the deep gullies surrounding the headwaters of the Moletta river. Allied artillery and mortars forced the Germans to fall back with heavy casualties, allied headquarters said.

Artillery from both sides fired heavily elsewhere on the beachhead front.

It was announced meanwhile on American cruiser which stood off the Anzio coast Sunday and shelled the enemy had engaged in seven duels with long-range German artillery with results described as "excellent."

Canadian patrols pressed toward Tollo, about eight miles inland from Ortona on the Eighth army front, and British forces occupied a ridge three miles southeast of Guardiagrele.

Enemy aircraft failed to appear yesterday over the beachhead area, but despite bad weather American planes attacked the outskirts of Rome for the second day, hitting air fields at Littorio, Marcighano and Guidonia, and the Cumino field northwest of the capital.

RATION

about 650,000,000 pounds, OPA said, more than half the month's total of rationed meats. There will be an estimated 5 per cent more beef than the 430,000,000 pounds available this month.

The new point value chart lists most popular bacon cuts at one point a pound, down two and three points from February. Canadian bacon is reduced from nine to five points a pound.

Most pork roasts are cut two points, with loin roasts listed at three points a pound. Most pork steaks and chops are reduced two points, while knuckles, jowls, and plates are given a zero rating.

Among the beef cuts, both ten-inch and the seven-inch rib roasts are reduced one point, to six and seven points, respectively. Chuck roasts are reduced one point and all beef cuts generally used for making stews, with the exception of boneless heel of round, are reduced one to two points.

It is estimated there was a total of 1,725,000 marriages in the U. S. in 1943.

tle of yesterday, appeared once again listless and disinterested, the same as he was yesterday until mention of the death penalty brought him to avid attention.

Prosecutor John B. Hill and his assistants, asking the death penalty, expressed belief the trial could be brought to a speedy conclusion.

First Triple Charge

The first Ohio jury to hear triple murder charges at one time against a single man was being selected from a panel of 75 persons.

Collett is accused of shooting to death Elmer McCoy, 59, wealthy hog raiser, McCoy's wife, Forrest, 54, and their daughter, Mildred, 22, on their Oak View farm near here last Thanksgiving eve.

Seating of the jury will be followed by opening statements and a visit to the McCoy farm. The state said it would require the rest of the week to present its case. Defense attorneys declared they would need at least two more days, expected to be concerned principally with questioning the validity of a purported confession by Collett and presenting evidence to show Collett could not have committed the murders because he was not in the vicinity at the time.

The case is not expected to reach the jury before the middle or latter part of next week.

Ten jurors were seated tentatively as the trial opened today. They are:

George G. Pensyl, Washington C. H. jeweler and watchmaker; Mrs. Essa V. Kelley, wife of a plumber; M. L. Lyons, a garageman; Mrs. Opal Exline, wife of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad agent at nearby Bloomingburg; Mrs. Corda McCafferty, retired school teacher; B. F. Roberts, hearse driver for a funeral home; and these farmers—Frank Rothrock, a former city councilman, Fred Coffman, Ellsworth Vanhoridsall and Ralph Braden.

Collett, nervous and weeping in recent weeks, yesterday seemed to have regained some of the confidence that marked him during the days after his arrest.

CLEVELAND MAYOR IN GOVERNOR RACE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 29—Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as governor of Ohio.

Lausche's candidacy increases to six the number of Democratic gubernatorial aspirants. They include James W. Huffman and Frank Dye of Columbus, Frazier Reams and Walter Baertschi of Toledo and Martin T. Sweeney of Cleveland.

"I will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May primaries and my petitions will be in circulation before the day is over," said Lausche.

Lausche made no mention in his brief announcement of his mayoral post, but associates said he would not resign the mayoralty to campaign for the gubernatorial nomination.

Born on Cleveland's St. Clair ave., Lausche was the son of Slovenian parents, who came to this country 56 years ago. His father was a steel worker and later became a wine merchant and real estate operator. On his death, Lausche helped his mother operate a restaurant in his home neighborhood.

RULES AGAINST OPA IN ESTATE SALES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29—Probate Judge C. P. McClelland says the office of price administration has no authority to set price ceilings on articles sold at public sales to settle estates if the aggency's regulations does not conform to state laws.

The jurist handed down his opinion yesterday in a complaint action brought by several disappointed bidders for a tractor at an auction Saturday on the nearby farm of the late Robert D. Rugg. He ordered the tractor resold and declared:

"The OPA can make a test case of this if it wants to. State laws provide that anything sold at an auction to settle an estate must go to the highest bidder and as far as this court is concerned it will be governed by state laws rather than OPA regulations.

Rodney S. Baldwin, attorney for the Rugg estate, said farmers would have bid up the tractor's price to between $1,000 and $1,500 if the Columbus OPA office had not imposed a ceiling price at 70 per cent of the tractor's original value.

Fifty-eight bidders offered to pay the OPA price of $634 or more for the machine. They chose the purchasers—Fred Brunning—by drawing a name from a hat.

We hear a great deal these days about postwar planning. Some of it seems sound and practical, and some of it is "crystal gazing."

While literally hundreds of public and private agencies are thinking of postwar planning, there are a few things that realistic individuals are sure of. They know that first and foremost the war has to be won and nothing should interfere with all-out efforts toward this end.

They know that economic tides ebb and flow; that the future, like the past, will experience good times and bad; that when bad times come, many people will face economic hardships.

They know that they, like everyone else, are growing older; that the life of any individual is uncertain; and that in accordance with the immutable laws of nature, heads of families will continue to pass on.

Knowing these things, some 30 million people insured by Metropolitan are providing definite measures of protection against these uncertainties of life through some 29 billion dollars of life insurance.

In addition to providing an anchor to windward for the individuals involved and for their families, the thrift of these policyholders is bound to be of a stabilizing character during the postwar period.

This is Postwar Realism of the highest order.

Lima Works To Build 15 C. & O. Locomotives

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 29—The Chesapeake & Ohio railway yesterday awarded a $4,200,000 contract to the Lima (Ohio) Locomotive Works for 15 heavy-duty Allegheny-type freight engines.

Delivery is scheduled to start in September, the railway's announcement said, following delivery of 10 other Alleheny locomotives ordered from the Lima plant last May.

The 15 new units will supplement 20 of identical design now in use for cross-mountain coal haulage betwene Clifton Forge, Va., and Hinton, W. Va., the railway reported.

The locomotive contract is part of a new equipment program estimated by R. S. Marshall, C. & O. senior vice president, at $18,000,000.

DEMAND HALT ON DAD DRAFT

Senators Renew Pleas for End of Inducting Fathers Into Service.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Demands that the drafting of fathers be halted pending a review of 5,000,000 occupational deferments were renewed today by senators who challenged a medical commission's report that present physical standards should not be lowered.

With reports from nearly every state showing draft quotas are not being met, Senators Johnson, Democrat of Colorado, and Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, criticized both the physical standards and the continuing father draft.

"The armed forces," said Johnson, "have their manpower sights too high.

Wheelers Statement

Wheeler, noting that a review of 5,000,000 occupational deferments has been ordered, said:

"The least they can do is stop drafting fathers now— * * until this review of deferments in industrial plants and other occupations is made.

"You don't have to be an expert to know that there are many thousands of men classified as 4-F for some minor physical defect who could be used by the Army if the Army would take them.

"It's scandalous the way they have deferred young men of 18 to 26 years in the various war plants and taken fathers with large families."

Meanwhile state selective service directors reported almost general failure to meet quotas. At least nine states, an Associated Press compilation showed, have failed to meet goals by amounts ranging from 10 to 50 per cent. These include New York, Michigan, Kentucky, Nebraska, Florida, Iowa, Colorado, Georgia, and Utah.

Four Meet Quota

Others said they had failed to meet goals but did not disclose the margin. Four states—Oregon, Montana, South Carolina and Rhode Island—said quotas have been met.

Prime reasons for limited induction, as given by state directors, were:

1. A hesitancy about drafting fathers.

2. Efforts to keep the draft from hindering war production.

3. Delays brought about by a change-over from the former system of "screening" examinations by draft board doctors to one of military physical examinations prior to induction.

CAPITAL PONDERING TWO DINNER BIDS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—More than the usual quota of abstracted frowns were noted in congress today as members tried to decide how they should spend the evening—dining with Jack and Heintz at the Mayflower or viewing a war production board exhibit at the commerce building.

Blithely ignoring the conflict in dates, Bill Jack and Ralph Heintz, Cleveland war contractors, went ahead with arrangements for their dinner, to which they have invited every member of house and senate. They said at least 200 acceptances have been received.

The war production board wasn't calling off its affair, either, and it's a special preview for congressmen.

The dinner, to be served at 6 p. m., probably will last until 10 with Bill Jack making a speech, answering questions, and supervising movies of his plant's operations.

The company is opposing the government's war contract renegotiation program, and Bill Jack made no bones about his reasons for throwing the party. He said he saw nothing wrong about trying to sell the legislators on the idea the renegotiation program will prevent industry from building up reserve funds for postwar employment.

Jack and Heintz employes, called "associates," work 12-hour shifts. They get free lunches, dental and medical attention, and work to music.

Compromise Service Vote Bill Rejected

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Senate conferees yesterday rejected a house-sponsored service vote compromise bill and considered instead a proposal that the constitutionality of the administration's federal war ballot plan be tested in the supreme court.

The house compromise offer would have retained a federal absentee ballot for use only in states which have no absentee voting law or those which certify that the federal ballot is acceptable under state laws.

It was rejected, Senator Green (D-RI), chairman of the senate conferees said, because "it wouldn't enable anyone any time to vote."

The senators will submit a proposition of their own to the house conferees late today, but Green declined to detail it in advance.

GOSSIP GAVE JAPS TIP TO FLEE KISKA

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Feb. 29—Loose talk, radiating from the Alaska embarkation port of Seattle, enabled the Japanese to pull thousands of troops and great quantities of material out of Kiska last August. An army intelligence spokesman says, thereby leaving invading U. S. forces "with a hollow victory tantamount to defeat."

Major Albert J. Stowe, personal representative of Gen. Clayton Bissell, assistant chief of staff, army intelligence, told interviewers yesterday:

"Common was the knowledge in Seattle that we planned to attack Kiska and, prior to the invasion, unauthorized persons, both military and civilian, openly disclosed the D-date, August 15.

"As a result the Japs got out, voluntarily. Not one remained on the island when our troops arrived at 3 o'clock in the morning. * * *

"They knew we were coming—and when," he asserted. "So accurately and so far in advance were the Japs tipped off that had they chosen to implement their forces they might have annihilated us."

High Court Rules On Collective Bargaining

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—The supreme court ruled yesterday that an employer is required by the national labor relations act to bargain collectively with a union, regardless of contracts reached with individual employes.

Justice Jackson delivered the 8-1 decision which upheld the main provisions of a labor board order directing the J. I. Case company, of Rock Island, Ill., to bargain with the International Union, Automobile, Aircraft & Agricultural Implement Workers of America (CIO). Justice Roberts favored reversal, but did not write a dissenting opinion.

The majority opinion said it was "the very purpose" of the NLRB law to supercede the terms of separate agreements with those which "reflect the strength and bargaining power and serve the welfare of the group."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Rheumatic Fever

"Please explain the cause, the effects and the treatment of rheumatic fever," writes a correspondent in Richmond, Va. It is a very good question to which every parent should know the answers.

I could wish that we had as good, efficient and active a National Foundation against rheumatic fever as we have against infantile paralysis. Rheumatic fever is far the more dangerous to youth. It is a killer—more deadly than infantile paralysis and more crippling, although because its crippling effects are internal and hidden, they are not in the public eye so much as infantile. But they are the more treacherous for that very reason. Rheumatic fever is commoner, more widespread and affects more people than infantile paralysis. It is estimated there are 250,000 new cases every year in the United States.

My correspondent wants to know the cause first, and that is the most difficult part of her enquiry. We know it is a germ, but it has not been certainly identified. It probably gets into the system through the tonsils. Most cases occur in the late winter or early spring, the season of most frequent respiratory infection. Geography and climate play an important role in causation.

It is a disease of the temperate zone, stopping at the sub-tropics, especially of damp climates, on the ocean front, around water courses where rain, damp and fog are prevalent. It is predominantly a disease of the poor, the ratio in New York City, as reported by Coburn, being 20 to 1 of poor and well-to-do. So nutrition may play a predisposing role.

Rheumatic fever is exactly the right name for it. Acute articular rheumatism is another name, but is inadequate because it does not always affect the joints. And rheumatism means nearly anything from Grandapa's cracking joints to crippling arthritis.

This condition does not affect Grandpa. It is a disease of childhood, which is one reason it is so important a health problem. And while it affects the joints in the acute, feverish stage, it never cripples them.

It should be considered as of two forms—the acute stage and the consequences. The acute attack comes on with overwhelming suddenness — the child is prostrated with fever, sweats, and swelling and pain in the joints. Sometimes the joints are not involved and these make puzzling cases.

This acute attack lasts for only a few days or at most a few weeks. The treatment of the acute attack is simple with salicylates and heat and moderate splinting to the joints.

But it is the complications which make rheumatic fever the great health problem. These complications affect the heart and pericardial sac. They cause no pain and at first no crippling. The individual may go through a busy youth and early middle age and become disabled only at the age of 40 from that old childhood disease.

The means we have for combating these late sequels are two. First, detection of the heart damage early—that is during or soon after the acute attack, so that protective care can be exercised. In this we gain a great deal of help from modern electro-cardiograph measurements of the heart beat. The other is a long period of rest in bed. This should be instituted in all patients with rheumatic fever. Certainly in everyone where the slightest suspicion of heart damage is aroused.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. B.:—What is the greatest number of drops of Fowler's solution that is safe to take at one dose?

Answer: Fowler's solution depends for its actions on arsenic. It contains potassium arsenate in the strength corresponding to one per cent arsenic trioxide. The fatal dose of arsenic trioxide is about two grains, or about half an ounce of Fowler's solution. The official dose is 3 to 15 drops.

ALL-DAY MEETING HELD

A program honoring the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln was given when members of Group No. 2 of the Missionary society of Central Christian church met all day Thursday in the home of Mrs. Charles Swisher on Chestnut street. Quilt blocks were pieced and a luncheon was served at noon. Offering for the milk fund for the Children's home at Cleveland was taken. Mrs. Earl Harrod talked on the "sacrificial meeting" to be held at the church in March and Mrs Oscar Noe gave a report on aid for service men. Mrs. Frank Fairchild discussed the state youth conference to be held at the church March 11 and a committee on food for the conference was appointed, including Mrs. Swisher, Mrs. Paul Cass, Mrs. W. T. Dulin, Mrs. Ed Watts, Mrs. John Linn. The table committee appointed was composed of Mrs. Edna Dixon, Mrs. H. Harriell, Mrs. Joe Mitchell, Mrs N. W. Llewellyn. Mrs. Cass led devotions and Mrs. Harrod talked on the World Day of Prayer program. "Abraham Lincoln's Autobiography" was read by Mrs. Farrell. "A Childhood Kiss from Ann Lincoln," Mrs. N. Neer; "Abraham Lincoln," Mrs. Elias Coldwell; "The Boyhood of George Washington," Mrs. Llewellyn; "The Man of the West," Mrs. Charles Goodspeed, "George Washington," Swisher; "The Son of Liberty," Mrs. Harrod. MORE GARDENS GOAL IN 1944

Redoubling of Efforts Asked To Help Ease Strain on Farm Production.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29—Gardeners were asked Monday to redouble their efforts this year in the face of heavier draft requirements which will take many of the state's farmers and successful victory gardeners.

P. C. Ramsower, director of agriculture extension at Ohio State university, asserted the prevailing attitude that home gardening and canning were not important was based on a misunderstanding.

The state as a whole, he said, has already lost many farmers to industry and the draft. In addition many successful victory gardeners will be in the armed services this spring.

"If there have been no shortages of vegetables in most sections, he said, can be attributed to the efforts of home gardeners and non-farmers.

Ramsower pointed out the quartermaster-general of the Army has indicated the demand for canned goods to feed our servicemen will probably be greater this year than last.

Last year the country's 20 million victory gardeners produced 8,000,000 tons of foodstuffs.

Ask More Home Gardens

The director said the government has asked home gardeners to produce more foodstuffs and has raised 1944 goals for major agricultural products.

He listed eighteen major farm crops in the state—of which increases have been asked in 12.

The department of agriculture asked the state to produce 138 per cent more sugar beets than last year. Sugar beets require much hand labor at present unavailable.

"I have a great deal of faith in Ohio's farmers and gardeners," Ramsower said. "No matter what happens—barring a drouth or unseasonable weather — I believe that we will meet our quotas.

"We will lose men to the draft; that is inevitable. We are having trouble obtaining some machinery, repairs and replacement parts. However, despite all this, I believe we can make the quota."

He listed the following farm products, showing the per cent of increase or decrease in production mapped by the department of agriculture:

SPEED BILL TO FAVOR VETERANS ON JOBS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Speedy enactment of legislation giving war veterans first choice at federal jobs appeared certain today following President Roosevelt's recommendation that the government set an example for private employers.

Republicans and Democrats alike Indorsed the proposal. Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military committee declared, "it will be done," and Senator Mead (D-NY), member of the senate civil service committee, said legislation embodying the President's proposals would be considered soon by the senate.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, said "we Republicans believe that a man or woman who fights for his country is entitled to every possible consideration when he or she returns to civilian life," adding:

"We expect the private employer to take back all his employes who have gone to war, and the government can do nothing else but set a good example."

Some 800,000 service men and women already have been released from the armed forces since Pearl Harbor. How many of them have found civilian jobs with the government is not known.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Harry B. Mitchell, president of the civil service commission, and heads of executive departments and agencies, directing that special emphasis be placed on employing veterans in the federal service.

TRUK

slaughter as many warships and transports as possible.

Learn About Truk

Before this strike, the navy frankly acknowledged it knew very little about Truk. Now we know just about all we need to know.

Officers and men of this battleship are almost as shocked by the Japanese failure to send out attack planes as the enemy must have been by our first strafing planes.

As I write, the assessment of the total damage inflicted by our bombers and torpedo attacks hasn't been completed. Rear Adm. F. C. Sherman, commanding one group of carriers, has reported pilots in his group alone blew up two tankers and one cargo vessel plus a light cruiser and three transports.

(Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, allied commander in the Pacific, later placed enemy losses at 25 ships sunk, six probably sunk and 11 damaged).

Sherman said enemy air opposition was meager the first day and non-existent the second day.

A daring rescue of a Hellcat fighter pilot shot down inside the Truk lagoon demonstrated how thoroughly the Japanese were beaten. A cruiser's scout seaplane landed near the southern end of the lagoon, picked up the fighter pilot from his rubber life-raft and returned him safely while circling fighters protected the seaplane.

Planes Leave Carriers

The first wave of attacking planes swept off the carriers in the pre-dawn haze. About an hour later, pilots could be heard singing out over their radios: "Pick-ing targets. We're going down for strafing."

The first bombing strike followed immediately.

This ship's skipper, commenting on the assault's success, said: "I'm beginning to believe the Jap is harder pressed than we know. He just hasn't got enough stuff to go around for all his fronts.

"If we had enough transports in the Pacific to haul the troops we need, I believe we could go right through to China."

Truk's principal weakness, exposed by this carrier attack, is that the Japanese heretofore mystery-cloaked base doesn't have the necessary nearby supporting airbases. When Truk's own fields were neutralized, the enemy couldn't muster any planes to fight back within time to do them any good.

Army Commissions Won by Marion and Union Co. Nurses

Miss [illegible] Union county women are among Ohioans receiving military promotions, the war department announced today.

Miss Mary Magdalena Mautz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mautz of the Marion-Delaware road, who recently joined the Army Nursing Corps, and Miss Ina Charles Dodd of Marysville have been commissioned second lieutenants, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Miss Mautz is a graduate of Pleasant High school and took her nurse's training at General hospital in Cincinnati. She was on the staff at the hospital for several years following her graduation and in December 1942 joined the staff at the Wright Aeronautics at Lockland, O. She joined the armed forces Feb. 1, this year and has been stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Lt. Mautz has a brother, Col. David S. Mautz who is stationed with the anti-aircraft artillery at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Lt. Dodd's home is near Marysville.

Invasion of the Air

THE stepped-up scale of aerial operations against Germany, now proceeding from bases in Italy as well as England, is bringing to a climax an experiment in warfare so momentous that its scope can be grasped only with difficulty.

The United States air force in Britain, according to Prime Minister Churchill, now is numerically greater than Britain's force — and it is just coming into the season of maximum effectiveness for daylight bombing. The strategy is to bring that force to bear so strongly in invasion of German air that Goering's fighters will be knocked down faster than they can be replaced from bombed-out plane and parts factories.

The point to be determined in the experiment is whether Germany then would be able to continue the war. It would be a situation analagous with that over Rabaul, where for many days the Japanese have been unable to send up a defending air force. Mr. Churchill speculated in the house of commons last week on the outcome of unimpeded aerial raiding restricted only by antiaircraft fire, with vast armadas sweeping at will over their targets.

Air power enthusiasts have claimed this would be tantamount to complete victory. Their claims have been disputed as theory, but the fact is they cannot be denied until the circumstances on which the theory is postulated have been created. Air power is still a new instrument; no one can be sure of its potentialities until they have been tested. Furthermore, even the potentialities continue to increase while the test is in progress. The United States has been working on a plane which would make the Flying Fortress a medium, instead of a heavy bomber, for instance. Tactics are being worked out as a matter of routine in 1944 which would have been impossible with the equipment available when Germany aimed its best punch at Britain. When and if invasion of the German air is completed, then and then only will it be time to judge the accomplishment of air power in World war II.

The Enemy First

EVENTS now will disclose the ultimate effects of the Barkley explosion. While there are some Americans who might have preferred an atmosphere of irreconcilability to the patching-up of the quarrel between Mr. Roosevelt and the majority leader in the senate, the fact is the United States must continue to be governed. In wartime there is no quarrel inside the country more important than the quarrel with the enemy. The enemy comes first. Americans must not make the mistake of the Yugoslavs and the Greeks.

Sen. Barkley is no longer Mr. Roosevelt's majority leader in the senate. His resignation from that position and his reelection by unanimous vote confirmed his mandate from the members of his party in the senate, a point which was politically obscure before the showdown. His offer of a working agreement with Mr. Roosevelt, which is the effect of his conciliatory letter, does not weaken his new position.

It may be assumed that Mr. Roosevelt henceforth will think twice before he derides congress again. If he fails, it may be assumed, further, that he will be called to account again, if not by Sen. Barkley, then by someone else similarly reflecting congressional resentment of a high-handed executive attitude toward a coordinate branch of the national government. Only events can prove whether the assumptions are correct.

Someone in the Woodpile

THE government of Argentina, only Latin American government to maintain a serious threat to American security, can only be described as circumstantial. Since last June it has been entirely at the mercy of competing elements, none of which can gain clear command. The uncertainty has had bad effect on Argentina's standing and on the conduct of the war. It may be expected to grow worse before it can grow better.

In this country, Argentina sometimes seems too remote for its troubles to be given more than passing attention, but there is nothing even faintly remote about the troubles. They represent a struggle in this hemisphere between the same forces that have caused the greatest war in history. There is abundant evidence—satisfactory to our state department—that someone is in the woodpile in Argentina besides Argentines.

Knowing what Germany's foreign trouble-making experts have been able to do elsewhere to weaken the enemies of the reich, no citizen of the United States calling himself a realist will ignore the symptoms in Argentina.

News Behind the News

Delinquency Called Largely Traceable To Saloons; Possible Controls Suggested.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Evidence is mounting in the daily news columns that parental and child delinquency is traceable to the saloon.

No doubt the prohibitionists soon will be taking up that phase and advocating another era of bootlegging, crime, and corruption as a cure.

A congressional committee, for instance, has heard a policewoman telling of mothers taking babies into saloons for the evening, a great growth of child drunkenness apparent to the police, and sober children coming into saloons to bring mama home —A reversal of the old theme of the daughter who came for father and sang:

"Father, dear father, come home with me now."

Survey Made

The Portland Oregonian has made an excellent survey showing the part of liquor in delinquency, a part which has caused domestic Judge Brown there to advocate a law holding parents criminally responsible for neglect of children. The problem, no doubt, exists nationally.

Yet to me, this liquor phase is no different than any of the others, and is only an effect, not a cause of the trouble. The drinking of alcohol is a custom to which man has subscribed since long before Christianity. The handling of the drunkenness problem through all the ages has been founded on self-restraint, popular scorn, popular disgrace, and such regulatory influences—not prohibition.

Obviously, for the average healthy person, a moderate consumption of alcoholic beverages never has been considered harmful by a majority of the people in this world—or I believe by all medical men. Overdoses not only are harmful but poisonous, as harmful as an overdose of medicine which kills.

Worse Here Than Abroad

Foreign nations seldom have our troubles. In their national customs, they generally promote beer and wine, and raise their children to a proper repugnance of drunkenness. In France, Italy, Germany and England, for instance drunkenness has never existed on the scale encountered here.

Primarily then, what we need is leadership — and discipline—along similar lines.

Instead, we have gone the opposite way. When prohibition was repealed, most of our political leaders promised there would be no return of the saloon. We not only returned it, but we invited females into it. The facilities provided for man's failing has thereby been extended to women, with the results found in Washington, Portland, and nationally as described above.

Suggested Controls

The institution of separate saloons might be corrective, if any saloons are necessary at all. Hours of operation could be adjusted to discourage drunkenness, as in England and Canada. Cheap dives along the roads, known as roadhouses, easily could be regulated out of existence—without prohibition.

Also, in most foreign nations, a strong ale is promoted and it is the working man's drink. Its price is kept cheap; whisky and strong drinks are made very dear. Drinking out in the open at sidewalk cafes, etc., is encouraged in a way differing from the American booth and dancehall system.

Certainly present conditions are unsatisfactory and solutions must be sought, but unless those who advocate common-sense correctives take the leadership, we probably again will be plunged eventually into the mistakes of prohibition.

Definition

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, speaking in the house of commons, said: "Unconditional surrender" does not mean that the German people will be enslaved or destroyed. It means, however, that the Allies will not be bound to them at the moment of surrender by any pact or obligation. There will be no question, for instance, of the Atlantic Charter applying to Germany as a matter of right and barring territorial transferences or adjustments in enemy countries. No such arguments will be admitted by us as were used by Germany after the last war.

"Unconditional surrender means that the victors have a free hand. It does not mean that they are entitled to behave in a barbarous manner nor that they wish to blot out Germany from among the nations of Europe. If we are bound, we are bound by our own conscience to civilization. We are not to be bound to the Germans as a result of a bargain struck."

Uncle Joe: Generally Curious

LT. GEN JOSEPH W. STILWELL
His Nose Itches

By TOBY WIANT
Associated Press Writer

WITH GENERAL STILWELL IN NORTHERN BURMA JUNGLE—Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. (Uncle Joe) Stilwell's unquenchable curiosity makes him work many times harder—physically as well as mentally—than anyone under his command. He listens intently to what his subordinates have to say about situations or terrain—then finds out for himself just how accurate they are. Not that he doesn't trust them. He's just curious.

Every American in the jungle calls him "Uncle Joe," or "The Old Man"—not to his face, but not disrespectfully. He apparently likes to be known as "Uncle Joe," because he permitted "Uncle Joe's Chariot" to be painted on the nose of his plane in which he commutes about China, Burma and India.

Stilwell would have made one of the best reporters in the business. He always wants to know the who, what, why, when and where—and doesn't stop asking questions until he finds out.

He is 63 years old, but seems not more than 50. He can—and does — outwalk soldiers 20-30 years younger. He sets such a fast pace that troops—and war correspondents—gasp for breath after the first mile or so.

His curiosity has led him over virtually every important inch of the Hukawng Valley, where American-trained - and - equipped Chinese are driving the Japs southward to give American engineers building the Ledo Road plenty of room.

When Stilwell issues an order, he know exactly what that order entails. He personally has been over the area and memorized each hill, ravine, trail and river.

Man Wanted

The Library of Congress isn't running a want-ad on this particular manpower shortage, but it wants:

A linguist, scholar, technician, bibliographer, connoisseur of books and professional scholar acquainted with the geography and ethnography of the Mediterranean area, also its history, to understudy Dr. Israel Schapiro, head of the library's Semitic division. Applicant should speak Hebrew, Yiddish, Arabic, Aramaic, Syriac and all other languages of Near East. Should be a polished writer, trained and experienced in the art of literature and a methodical and exacting student of religion, philosophy and the human sciences. Also should be an A-1 administrator, prepared to handle important business dealings, and skilled in personnel work. Age required: approximately 30. Future: A chance to succeed one of the world's greatest scholars, who started in 1914 with the qualifications listed above and now thinks it is time to start looking around for a successor.

On the Wane

United States News, commenting on the successful raid on Truk and other United States naval victories in the Pacific, makes this blunt summation:

"The rapid wane of Japan's naval power is one of the surprises of this war. The force that managed one of the fastest seaborne conquests in history today is crippled, hunted and driven from one base to another toward home waters. The destruction of Japan's navy now is revealed as well begun. One reason is that her fighting forces are not backed by the navy yards, steel mills, arsenals, airplane plants and the merchant shipyards to replace battle losses.

"America, however, does have the resources and the industries that are the real foundation of naval power. Today, the navy is shown in its true power, the product of miracles of construction, training, planning, management, all brought to bear in combat sooner than had been thought possible.

"The war of islands, instead of being ineffective 'island hopping,' now is disclosed, moves 1,000 to 2,000 miles at a stride, traveling, not from islet to islet, but from island group to island group."

Disposition of Marshalls and Other Territory at Once Urged To Simplify Peace Problems.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NOW that American forces have conquered the Marshall Islands and are at the other islands under Japanese mandate, we owe it to ourselves and to our allies to say clearly, out of "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind," what we hope to do with them and why.

There are, I know, many who think that all such matters should not be discussed until the war is ended. But they are, it seems to me, greatly mistaken. Anyone who reads Stephen Bonsal's diary of the Paris peace conference—now published under the title "Unfinished Business"—will see the tragic consequences of President Wilson's failure to come to terms with the Allies before settling with Germany.

The more definitely territorial questions can be settled now, the better the chances of collaboration after the war. A peace conference which had to settle all the unsettled problems among the Allies as well as the treatment of our enemies would have a hopelessly complicated task.

The President in his message to congress on Sept. 17, 1943, said that Japan "will never again" . . . have authority over the islands which were mandated to her by the League of Nations. It is now time to say who will have authority over them. And since these islands will be occupied by American forces, it is our duty to know what we think and to lay our case before the world.

Reasons of Security

Presumably, we shall ask the members of the League to cancel the Japanese mandate, and we should then, it seems to me, ask them to cede the islands to the United States. On what ground? Not on the ground of our conquest. We do not regard conquest as establishing a right. Thus we have participated in the conquest of Sicily and southern Italy but it would never enter our minds to claim any rights to this Italian territory.

Our claims to the Pacific islands which lie north of the equator, rests upon the fact that in the hands of an enemy power they are a threat to the United States, that there is no other friendly power which can defend and hold them, that without them we cannot guarantee the independence of the Philippines, or be certain that we shall never again be cut off from our Chinese allies.

If, therefore, we are to maintain our own security in the Pacific and contribute effectively to the maintence of peace in this region of the world, these islands should be annexed by the United States.

If this is settled clearly on these grounds we shall not become confused about the other Pacific islands which now belong to, or are mandated to, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, France, the Netherlands and Portugal. Our manifest interest in these islands is that they should be strongly held by these Allied nations.

Dividing Responsibility

When we come to discuss arrangements with them for the peace of the Pacific it will be advisable to divide primary responsibility at the equator and then to negotiate our agreements on the principle that each nation which is a party to it will organize the defenses of its islands and maintain its own armaments at an agreed level. These agreements should, no doubt, include reciprocal privileges for naval and air bases in all the islands belonging to the United Nations.

But let us never forget that what would make valuable the privilege of using a naval base in Australia, New Zealand or Dutch territory is in the the last analysis, the power and the will of the Australians, New Zealanders and Netherlanders to defend it, support it and maintain it. A "base" without a friendly and strong hinterland is as likely to be a liability as an asset in time of war.

This practical rule needs remembering when we think about making the United States and the Western Hemisphere secure in the Atlantic. What happened in 1940, when France fell, and the fact that Gen. Eisenhower has to go to North Africa must have taught us how necessary are France and the French Empire to the security of the Americans, cans.

If Hitler were in Dakar and in Casablanca today the pro-Axis conspiracies in the Argentine and Bolivia would be an infinitely greater danger to us than they are.

Yet who can hold North and West Africa strongly and securely except France? No one can. We couldn't. The British couldn't. Only the French can.

If the French empire is not strongly re-established, what good to us would be any rights which the French might grant us to use bases in Africa? These bases would be dangerously exposed beachheads in territory which, if the French are weak, would be a kind of no-man's land.

DETROIT—A purchasing agent's life in an automobile factory was never like this in times of peace.

War production demands are so varied that an agent nowadays finds himself called upon to buy such unmechanized items as:

Dish mops, used to apply a drawing compound on stampings; dry ice, to cool certain solutions; mutton tallow, to lubricate wooden assembly channels; police whistles, because they are about the only thing that will pierce a factory's din as a warning signal, and toothpicks, for medical dressing in the first-aid department!

Honus Wagner

Finest Shortstop in History Thrills Pittsburgh Fans with Memories of His Heydays.

By DAMON RUNYON

I JUDGE my name is still on a few old s mailing lists, lingering there from my as a sports writer, because I occasionally ceive press agent effusions, racing data even baseball pamphlets like the 1944 of the Pittsburgh Pirates, a document would have left me cold, but for one reaso

That is the fact that in the list of the ager's staff is the name of John Honus ner, coach. Thus I am reminded of one o most astonishing baseball players who laced on cleated shoes. Not to take in much territory, I will say he was the gre shortstop in the history of the game.

He must be past 70 now. He had playing for 14 years when I first saw hi 1911 and he was to go only six years er, so maybe I did not see him at his But what I did see of him was enough to in memory to this day as the superlative. was a squat, gnarled looking fellow with a hook nose and bowed legs, and when he w short he seemed to sprawl out over all territory between second and third.

That was not an illusion either. It w fact. It was almost impossible to knock a past him. He would go to his right or le apparently clumsy lunges that covered y of ground at a clip and he nearly always n the balls. He had huge hands that old Wi Robinson once described as the kind that gather in four or five steins of beer at once.

HONUS gave the impression of doing e thing clumsily, yet on results he was fection itself.

He was remembered by many old times his fielding and batting, but I think he greatest at a base runner. He was on the most remarkable base runners I ever He ran like some great awkward fowl, hop and flopping along the base paths, yet he 720 bases in his time, only 24 less than great Eddie Collins in a longer period of and 172 less than Ty Coub, the base steal est man in history.

Up there at the home plate with the musket in hand, Honus had no batting g He just seemed to sriddle there in the man's box switching his hickory stick lik was a riding crop and lacking all "form," he was the most feared batsman in the b ball world. The average pitcher shivered fore him. He was likely to hit anything threw. Often I have seen him leap into air and single off what might have been a pitch.

THEY used to tell a story of a pitcher had a poor memory and carried a note book in his hip pocket in which he jotted down the weaknesses of all the ba in the league. When Wagner came up day, the pitcher got out his book and consu his entry under Honus' name. It said:

"Wagner—Base on Balls."

Only an eccentric spitball heaver na "Bugs" Raymond, who was with the Gi had contempt for the mighty Wagner. "B would say, "Hey, Dutchman, look at t Then he would ostentatiously dampen baseball and sling it at Honus and whe the old "Flying Dutchman" had no fancy the spitball under any circumstances, whether "Bugs" got his goat, he seldom Raymond's pitching.

But he hit a lot of other good pitching cause his lifetime batting average was He had enormous stamina and played in games. He led the National league in ba half a dozen times, of which four years consecutive. He has his plaque in baseb Hall of Fame and in the ripeness of his y he remains on the Pittsburgh payroll. I wish the younger baseball fans who see now could know how good he was in his p ing heyday.

Red Cross Needs Your Help

Marion County Quota Is $56,000

More than 4,000 Marion County Boys and Girls in the armed services depend upon us to do our share for the American Red Cross. A minimum of $5.00 per family is needed. Some workers have made partial contribution through payroll deduction or extra work during the Community Fund Drive. Only one-sixth of that contribution went to the Red Cross . . . Added contributions are necessary from the homes of such workers to make the Marion County quota.

The national cost of serving one person in the armed forces for a year is $20. Marion county is being asked for only $14 per service man. Larger cities with larger quotas are carrying part of our responsibility.

You wouldn't refuse 15 cents a week to an American in an axis prison camp or to save a life with blood plasma . . . a few pennies now and then to serve coffee and doughnuts to the boys in the foxholes . . . a dollar to help some boy get home for the birth of a son or to comfort a dying mother . . . well the Red Cross provides these and dozens of other services . . . and all you are asked for is a minimum of $5 from your family . . . certainly not much of a sacrifice for us. Is it?

Presidents Hope for Upset In Game with Speedy Newark Five

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Harding High's ever-hopeful, upset-aspiring Presidents have developed an "everything-to-win and nothing-to-lose" complex, which they figure might give them a victory over the savage, undefeated Newark Wildcats in the second game of the District Class A basketball tournament in Edwards gymnasium, Delaware, tonight.

A win over the Wildcats, coached by crafty Max Douglas, probably would make all Marion and N. C. O. fans, who were disappointed in the Prexies' regular season finish, forgive everything and heap loads of praise on the corner of the Chief Executives. One thing's certain, a President upset of the Newark men would startle carry-over from last year. At the other guard post for Newark is usually found Bob Bline and at the forwards are Bill Gorsuch and Williams. Gorsuch played as a sophomore on the 1942 Newark team, which was beaten in the district finals by an especially inspired Columbus South five. He was sworn into the Navy last year and didn't see any 1942-43 action for the Cats but returned to the fold this season after receiving his honorable medical discharge from the Navy. Gorsuch is almost 20 years old, big, rugged and fast—a boy, or better, a man, who bears plenty of watching by the Presidents.

Newark was one of the four seeded teams in this year's district event—the others being Columbus South, Bexley and Upper Arlington. South was champ of the Columbus City league and Arlington captured honors in the Central Ohio circuit.

Because of tournament regulations, both Newark and Harding will be able to carry only 10 players for their game tonight. Coach Bohyer has nominated the following Prexies for the trip—Chuck Fazio, Elvin Beach, Rex Kilbourn, Stew Young, Fritz Guy, Jack Knoppen, Bob Virden, Laurie Feaver and Dick Holliday. Other varsity members who will be eligible to play in second round games, if Harding beats the Cats tonight, are Russ Midiam, Jim McGrath, Marshall Zurk and Bill Williams. Of this group Midiam and Williams are seniors and McGrath and Zuck juniors. Three sophomores—Shirk, Holliday and Feaver—will dress for the Newark game.

Among the 18 teams entered in the tournament, Harding ranks sixth in the won-and-lost columns with nine victories and four defeats. Newark is the only unbeaten tourney entrant.

It seems that Harding might not have met Newark had it not been for the sportsmanship of Coach Bohyer during the drawings in Delaware Saturday morning. It came down to Harding and Bexley as to which school would fill out the seeded bracket. Coach Bohyer informed officials that the Presidents and Bexley had both lost four games but that Bexley had beaten the locals, 45 to 22, in an early season game. What happened? Bexley was seeded and Harding was paired with tourney favorite Newark.

A Little Strategy

Coach Dewey N. Bohyer, for 18 eventful seasons head reinsman of Harding basketball teams, and his President charges have one source of satisfaction in drawing Newark for a first round tussle. The way Bohyer and some other local cage authorities look at it, Harding stands a better chance against the Wildcats with the present set-up than if the two teams were clashing in a later round. Coach Max Douglas of Newark has a reputation of solving the offensive tactics of opposing teams if he sees them in action before they face his Wildcat five. Douglas, with an advance knowledge of the style of ball played by a Newark foe, gauges his defense accordingly and it almost always turns out that his side wins—and by a sizeable margin.

Under Douglas, Newark teams have compiled an almost phenomenal record of 46 victories and two defeats. The young mentor has led the Cats to 20 wins this year, 14 in the Central Buckeye league, the championship of which Newark copped going away. Nearest team to the Wildcats was Lancaster, which had 11 triumphs and three setbacks. In league play, the Douglasmen totaled 641 points against the opposition's mere 360 or an average per game of 47.2 to 27.1. Most recent Newark win was the 47 to 29 conquest of Coshocton Friday night, the same evening Harding was being beaten out of the North Central Ohio conference title by Ashland 67 to 58.

Team Big and Rangy

The Newark team is a big outfit with several players towering above the six-foot mark. And the Wildcats aren't the string-bean brand of basketballers—they're hefty, but not to the point that they can't maneuver with ease around the cage court. Buddy Jackson, guard, is perhaps the biggest Newark threat. He was a member of the Newark 1943 state champions, which ousted Harding, 48 to 26, in the district finals at Ohio State university last winter. Dutch Campbell is the Wildcat center and another first string holds

Double Main-Go On Thursday Mat Bill

Thursday's wrestle program at the Armory will include a double main event, two 90-minute matches with best two out of three falls required to win, and a one-fall opener.

Buddy Knox and Gorilla Grubmeir will meet in one of the main events. The other main event will match the Black Panther and Whitey Walberg.

In the one fall opener Bobby Castle of Kansas City and Angelo Martinelli of New York will trade holds.

Kirkpatrick Beats Cooler, Gets Chance To Share in Title

Kirkpatrick defeated Universal Cooler cagers 52 to 32, in a County basketball league game last night at the Y. M. C. A. This gives Kirk a chance at the championship of the second half, for if Huber Manufacturing's squad should lose a game scheduled for tonight, Kirk and Huber would be tied. A game scheduled between Green Camp and Greenwood Sunday school was forfeited to Greenwood because Green Camp's team had an insufficient number of players. Fairfield girls continued to lead on the distaff side when they defeated Universal Cooler girls 42 to 22 last night.

In other games scheduled for tonight Waldo meets Schneider Brothers and Caledonia girls meet Huber girls. The Caledonia girls are in second place and must the game tonight to keep the lead.

Marion Mewhorter, boys' work secretary of the Y, has announced that there will be a managers' meeting tonight at 7:30 to set up a play-off schedule and wind up league business for the season.

Kentucky Derby Will Be Another Streetcar Event

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 29—This year, as in 1943, Kentucky derby fans must be residents of Louisville and vicinity to purchase tickets to the Churchill Downs annual horse racing classic, the regional office of defense transportation announced yesterday.

"In view of these stringent restrictions upon ticket sales, it is not considered that the running of the 1944 Kentucky derby will be inconsistent with travel policies of the ODT," said Brig Gen. Charles D. Young, retired, ODT deputy director.

"The office of defense transportation has no authority to forbid the holding of any sporting event," Young explained. "It is the responsibility of the ODT, however, to insure the orderly movement of men and materials for the war effort."

"Hence the running of the Kentucky derby—an event which normally requires use of 23 special trains and 276 additional railroad cars merely to transport spectators—is annually a matter of concern to the ODT," Young stated.

The deputy director emphasized that this year, as in 1943, there will be no extra railroad cars available, and no extra trains to Louisville.

Yazel Is All-Events Winner in City Bowling Tournament; Sixty 200-or-Better Scores Rolled in Two Final Days.

Palace Recreation Center pin boys had a busy time of it as the 1944 city bowling tournament closed with two sessions of singles and doubles Saturday and Sunday. What may be a new record for local keglng was made when sixty 200-or-better games were rolled in the two concluding days.

Don Greenland hit 638 Saturday for top individual mark of the tourney and Art Yazel racked up a 245 fine. Yazel is the tournament all-events champ with a 1849 total, consisting of a series of 608 in the five-man team division, 614 in the doubles, and 627 in the singles. Leading double score made Saturday and Sunday was the 1167 chalked up by the duo of Floyd Messmore and Maynard Snyder.

Following is the list of double century games in the two final, score-filled tourney sessions: McRill 201 and 205, Severns 235, Rogers 200, Humphreys 220, Yinger 236, Penry 202, Fetter 201, C. Marion Women Bowlers Second in State Meet

Grant's No. 1 which bowls weekly at the Palace Recreation alleys as one of the 12 teams in the Monday Nite Ladies' league, stands second in Class C of the 1944 state women's bowling tournament after rolling a 2015 total on the Capital City Olentangy lanes Saturday. The Monday Nighters of Westerville are first with 2086 pins.

Facing the Grant's outfit, the first Marion team to participate in the tourney, were Zelma Woessner, who tallied a 435 series, and M. Way, had the leading single game of 165. Other series totals were W. Chapman 406, G. Peak 388, Way 433 and F. Wilcox 353. The seven other local squads that entered the tournament are scheduled to roll in April.

RIDDLE EXPECTS 1-A

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 29—Elmer Riddle, 21-game winner last season for the Cincinnati Reds, said today he expected early reclassification to 1-A, and expressed doubt he would play major league baseball in 1944. The Georgia right-hander is an off-season war-worker with a Columbus Motor Repair and Electric Co.

Army-Bound Bivins Meets Murray Again In Cleveland Arena

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 29—Army-bound Jimmy Bivins makes his farewell appearance as a civilian leather pusher in a return 10-rounder with Lee Q. Murray at the Arena tonight and the boss man of the active heavyweights intends to give a sellout assemblage of 14,000 something to remember him by.

The Cleveland Negro's main concern is to regain the prestige he lost in his fight encounter with the former protege of radio's Lem, el Q. Stoopnagle. Bivins won the decision but Murray received the applause of a capacity throng for subjecting Jimmy to the roughest treatment of his 14-bout winning streak.

The rangling easterner came close to a technical knockout triumph when a right uppercut opened a deep gash above Bivins' left eye in the sixth round. The flow of blood from the wound virtually blinded the Clevelander in the ensuing rounds but Murray had broken his right hand and was unable to apply the finishing touches.

Despite his performance in their first meeting and the fact he'll enter the ring tonight with a weight advantage of from 10 to 12 pounds, Murray is a 3 to 1 underdog.

New Class B Champ Coming

By HAROLD HARRISON
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29 — There will be a new class B state high school basketball champion in Ohio in 1944.

Yorkville, which took the title last year, tumbled twice in the Jefferson county tournament last week and was eliminated from further competition.

The Yorks first took a 54 to 43 beating from Irondale and then fell before Jefferson Union, 43 to 47.

The elimination of Yorkville makes them the eighth straight class B champion to fail in defense of its title. No team has won the B championship twice in a row since Waterloo did it in 1934 and 1935.

The class A teams begin sectional tournament play this week with Newark and Martins Ferry claiming top attention. The Wildcats are seeking to become the first class A repeaters since 1930 when Dayton Stivers successfully defended the crown.

The Wildcats romped over Coshocton last week, 47 to 29, in a stormy encounter in which police escorted Officials E. J. Wilson and Ralph Crook of Lancaster from the floor. The officials called 14 personal fouls on Coshocton and 12 on Newark.

20th Win for Newark

The victory was the 20th straight for Newark.

Martins Ferry also wound up its regular season with 20 victories and no defeats. The Ferriers drubbed Weirton (W. Va.) 70 to 35, and Wheeling (W. Va.) 45 to 42, last week. The triumph over Wheeling was quite a feather in the Maruns Ferry cap since the West Virginians had an 11-game winning streak.

Sabina was the only undefeated team to lose last week. A string of 10 straight conquests was snapped by Martinsville, 38 to 36, and it was a particularly hard blow for Sabina since it had beaten Martinsville twice during the regular season.

Such teams as Findlay, Bluffton, Covington, Enon, and Cincinnati Xavier continued to roll along the perfect record path.

Findlay squeezed out its 16th straight against Fremont Ross but only after the hardest kind of a battle. The final count was 49 to 47 and the lead changed hands 16 times.

Cincinnati Xavier racked up its 16th victory at the expense of Purcell, 50 to 20, and Covington had little trouble getting No. 18 from Piqua Catholic, 52 to 16.

Bluffton Beats Upper Sandusky

Bluffton thumped Upper Sandusky, 58 to 45, for No. 14 and Enon ran its string to 19 by winning the Clark county tournament. Plattsburg was the final game victim, 47 to 45. Enon won 15 games during the regular season and added four more in county tournament action.

Canton Timken, which hadn't lost a game until a week ago, showed additional signs of slipping in the stretch by taking a 47 to 38 beating from Canton Lehman. Canton St. Johns, a class B outfit, won its 18th game in 19 starts, however, by walloping Minerva, 60 to 45.

The first defeat of Yorkville in the Jefferson county tournament was largely a one man job. Junior Hart, 5 foot 8 inch forward for Irondale, connected for 40 of Irondale's 64 points on 16 field goals and 8 free throws.

Irondale tumbled in the county finals, however, before Bergholz as Bergholz threw three men, led by 6 foot 4½ inch Jim Rawers around Hart. Rawers got 34 points as Hart connected for only 17. The final count was 45 to 32.

Sammy Byrd Captures New Orleans Tournament

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 29—Navy-bound Sammy Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder, tucked $1,000 in war bonds away today and left with other touring golf professionals for Gulfport Miss., and the $6,000 Gulfport tournament.

The tousle-haired Sammy came from behind in the third round to win the $5,000 New Orleans open tournament yesterday. The Birmingham, Ala., former baseball player, scored 285 for the 72 holes, five below Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., professional.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the early pace-setter, couldn't find the range in the third and final rounds and finished third with 291.

FISHING LICENSE ON SALE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 29—Fishing licenses for 1944, which are required on and after tomorrow, are on sale throughout the state, Conservation Commissioner Don Waters reported today. More than 500,000 licenses are issued in Ohio annually.

Golden Gloves Boxers Weigh-In for Weight Classification

Some forty city, county, and district youths—grade school, junior high and high school boys, war workers, soldiers, and what have you—were classified according to weight divisions at the weigh-in ceremony for the 1944 Marion Golden Gloves boxing tournament at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Tournament officials expect approximately 50 fighters to be weighed in before leather swinging starts at the Armory March 13. Total entries numbered 70 but because some of these boys live out-of-town and find it inconvenient to make regular trips here for training, the list of boxers actually competing in the tourney will not approach that figure.

Pairings for opening round matches will be drawn within the next few days, tourney officials said, after ample time has been allowed for all boys to be weighed in.

Seven Soldiers Appear

Featuring the weigh-in event last night in the special training headquarters in the third floor of the Y. M. C. A. building was the appearance of seven soldiers and two trainers from Camp Millard in Bucyrus. These service men, whose ages range from 19 to 33 years old, will start training for the Gloves next week, holding two sessions a week at the Bucyrus Y. M. C. A. and what other workouts are needed can be in the camp gymnasium.

Eight other Camp Millard soldiers, who have announced their intention to take part in the tournament, did not show up last night but are expected to be on hand later in the week for weighing in. Sgt. Al Spratley, of the Camp public relations department, is in charge of the Millard Gloves contingent.

These soldiers were at the weigh-in—Pfc. Joseph Delfino, 143½ pounds and 22 years old; Pvt. Joseph B. Brzezinski, 135 pounds and 33 years old; Anthony Calliare, 154 pounds and 20 years old; Technician Fifth Grade William Duchon, 145 pounds and 25 years old; Pfc. Joe Hanna, 185½ pounds and 20 years old; Charles McKernahan Jr., 140 pounds and 21 years old; and Orville Ellsworth, 142 pounds.

Soldier-trainers are Cpl. Lou Golia, and Pvt. Anthony Mello. Both are former professional fighters, Golia having been active in the ring around Pittsburgh and Mello fighting out of Boston.

Civilian Entrants

Civilian entrants who weighed in last night follow: John Werline, 171¾ pounds; John Rosebeck, 141; Gene Shenefield, 147; Jack Simmons, 166; Blaine K. Fulton, 127¾; Jack Millington, 77; Lee Fridley, 110; Wilmer Bibler, 130; Harold Kapp, 68; Carl Eschols, 100; Reginald Eschols, 100; Orville Starks, 85; Merle Jackson, 100; George Roest, 141; Victor Baker, 138; Bob Kaiser, 115; Jim Derrick, 102; Dorman Knapp, 105; James Teynor, 140; Thomas Cash, 175; Bucky Brinkman, 90; Tom Boyle, 128, Forest Banks, 132; Harold Appiegett, 138; Robert Ford, 145; and Ray Thomas, 135.

Fighters from Mansfield, Ravenwood, LaRue, Agosta and Delaware stables are expected to report for weigh-ins at the Y. M. C. A. later this week.

There will be nine weight classes in this year's recreation Gloves tourney, the regular eight divisions and an innovation, the "paper weight" class, which is for fighters under 12 years of age or under 100 pounds.

Mansfield Sergeant Reports on Air Raid

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 29—Staff Sgt. Robert Means of Mansfield, O., a radio gunner on one of 200 medium B-26 Marauder bombers raiding northern France yesterday, described an attack on Reserves-En-Santerre as "a nice bombing job."

"You could see the bombs making white flashes across the target," he said.

All medium bombers returned after the attacks on the rocket-gun sector and Nazi air fields, despite reports of heavy flak.

AIR SCOUTS TO BE ORGANIZED IN CITY

Leaders' Meeting To Be Held Tonight at 8.

Air-mindedness of youth is being followed closely by Marion Boy Scout officials, who tomorrow will start a course of instruction in a new branch of scouting, the Air Scouts. Hugh Hay, Harding Area executive, said the course involves all courses of instruction pertaining to airplanes except actual flight.

J. H. Walker of the Fairfield Engineering Co will be Squadron leader in Marion and Dr. R. E. Eicher will act as assistant leader. William Reicrenstein of the Civil Air patrol and J. L. Zant will be instructors for the leaders' course which will be held at 8 tonight at Boy Scout headquarters, 218 East Church street.

The first sessions of the course will be open to men interested in becoming leaders in Air Scout groups. After several instruction meetings for leaders alone interested boys and young men in Marion will also be invited to attend, Mr. Hay explained. He said a survey will be conducted through the schools to find boys who would like to join the new Scout branch. The Senior Scout committee of which J. E. Frew, principal of Edison Junior High school, chairman, is sponsoring the new group.

Russian Officers See U. S. Invasion Maneuvers

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 29—Russian army and navy officers witnessed and participated in American preparations for the assault landings on the European continent, the U. S. Navy disclosed today.

"Exercises held jointly by U. S. Army and Navy personnel in the English coastal area were observed by two Russian admirals, a general and nine other members of the Soviet military mission in Great Britain," the announcement said.

"The exercises constituted a portion of the continuing program whereby American personnel is being trained in the United Kingdom for amphibious operations against the continent."

The program lasted two days and Russian officers "participated freely" in it.

"They studied the assault weapons, various types of landing craft, and methods of training," the announcement said.

CITY TO SEEK PLANE SERVICE

Council Acts To Place Marion in Line for Post-War Aviation Routes.

City council at a meeting Monday night declared it is interested in obtaining airline service for the city of Marion and took steps to clear the way for such post-war service when it passed a resolution which will be sent to the civil aeronautics board of Washington, D. C. asking that body to include Marion in its future air routes.

The resolution expressed the opinion that the continued growth of civil and commercial enterprises of Marion and adjacent communities will be, in part, dependent upon future airline services, and approved the establishing of such services to Marion and these communities with which it has a mutual interest.

The council took action after Louis Michel, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the group. The chamber's aviation committee, headed by J. B. Bray, has been studying the possibilities of post war airline service for Marion for several months and is now in the midst of a survey to determine the city's needs in the establishment of the service. A copy of the resolution adopted by council will accompany the survey when it is placed in the hands of the civil aeronautics board.

Routes Drawn Up

Several airline companies have filed routes with the civil aeronautics board in recent months expressing a desire to establish Marion as one of the cities to receive the service. There was no discussion as to what the city's next step might be. It is expected that should the civil aeronautics board give the resolution favorable consideration the city would be expected to provide adequate airport facilities.

A resolution was adopted providing for investment of surplus funds in the city's treasury. The ordinance provides that funds which will not be required to be used for six months or more shall be invested in the city's current obligations instead of being deposited in a bank or banks. According to the ordinance the auditor will submit to the mayor and city solicitor a statement of moneys in the treasury or in the process of collection and a schedule showing the probable requirements of moneys for the use of the city for such six months period, together with his recommendation as to whether any moneys in the treasury shall be invested in such obligations. An account to be known as the treasury investment account, will be kept by the auditor.

Want Junk Removed

A group of persons residing on Bartram avenue appeared before council asking that junk, including bales of wires, parts of automobiles and other items belonging to Malo Bros. operators of a scrap iron and metal yard at Silver and Bartram avenue, be removed from the sidewalks and curb lines and that sidewalks be placed in condition for use. They also sought information regarding procedure necessary to procure a sanitary sewer and city water. Wells are dry in that neighborhood and a letter was read signed by the city health commissioner, Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, condemning the use of the water at one home. Water at other homes in the vicinity also has been condemned, the residents reported. The matter was referred to the street and alley committee, the city solicitor and service director.

Needed Repairs Listed

Attention was called to a large dead tree at 363 East Church street, needed repair to an alley at the rear of Moores & Rost plant, and needed street repairs on Bellefontaine avenue, Oak and Prospect streets, the intersection of Joseph and Leader streets and Columbia street at Main street.

The water reading for the month, 11.1 high and 10.5 low, was accepted as was also the report of revenue received in the mayor's office for January and February which amounted to $23.75.

The report of F. S. Burns, area relief director, was recieved and showed 51 relief cases, involving 97 persons, receiving assistance from the city. Total expenditures for January amounted to $1,389.47, the report showed.

UPPER SANDUSKY—Mrs. Justina Pytlik has received word that her son, S/Sgt. John F. Hagen of Miami, Fla., has been reported missing in action over France since Feb. 13. Sgt. Hagen was a radio operator on a bomber, having enlisted in the Air Corps in Miami in September, 1942.

AIR SCOUT SQUADRON COMMITTEE APPOINED

W. B. Bekbenstein, R. F. Fisher and J. L. Zant were named to serve on a committee meeting in organization of an Air Scout squadron in Marion when the Lions club met yesterday at Hotel Harding. Fred Barnhart, a member of the Harding Band and Orchestra Parents association, outlined activities of the group and announced the Harding band concert to be held March 20 at the Ohio theater and the Harding orchestra concert scheduled for May 16 at Central Junior High school.

The a cappella choir of Harding High school will present selections at a zone meeting of Lions clubs from surrounding communities Monday night at 7:30 at Hotel Harding. On Monday March 13 another evening meeting will be held at Hotel Harding, Lt. George Kramer a former member of the club, will show moving pictures Lt. Kramer is at present stationed in Columbus.

Noon Lenten Services Scheduled at Church

Lenten observances in the city will include services at noon each Wednesday from 12 o'clock noon until 1 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church, it was announced today by the pastor, Rev. Howard L. Olewiler.

Mrs. Harry T. Williams, organist, will preside at the Skinner organ for a program of appropriate musical selections and Rev. Olewiler will conduct a period of Lenten prayers. The music will start at 12 o'clock with the prayer service at 12:30 followed by another period of music.

Trainer Orders Cancelled To Boost Bomber Output

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—Another indication of increased emphasis on bomber and fighter aircraft was seen today in the army's termination of contracts with three companies for the construction of training planes.

The primary contractors affected by the order announced yesterday by the war department are the Consolidated Vultee Company at Nashville, Tenn., and Downey, Calif.; Aeronca, at Middletown, Ohio and Fairchild Aviation Corp., at Hagerstown, Md.

BOYS IN COURT

Four boys were taken into custody by city police Saturday night when they allegedly took money from two Marion boys who were selling papers on the streets. The boys, all 18 years of age, were arrested by Patrolmen Jack Lee and Jack Lyle. Their parents were notified and the boys released in their custody. The case will be considered by the grand jury.

Group two, Lewis former class situation, consists of areas where labor supply and demand are deemed in approximate balance and an acute shortage is not foreseen within six months.

Flying Fortress bombers can climb to altitudes of 40,000 feet.

Marion Man Disappears; Family Conducting Hunt

Information regarding the whereabouts of C. W. "Dick" Carey, 71, is sought by his family, following the disappearance from his home at 484 North Main street, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Carey who makes his home with a daughter, Mrs. Roy Russell of the North Main street address, is slightly built, weighs about 115 pounds and is crippled in his left hand. When he wandered away from home he was wearing a cap, dark coat and brown trousers and no overcoat. Friends reported seeing him in the neighborhood of Wall street but believed he was just taking a walk. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts is asked to notify Pat Marion county sheriff's office or his daughter, Mrs. Russell, phone 8372.

Lima Moved to Acute Labor Shortage Area

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—The War Manpower commission has reclassified Lima, O., as an acute labor shortage area and shifted it from a group two to group one. Officials said that group one labor areas are those in which the supply of workers is not sufficient to meet all needs, as compared to those areas in which labor supply and demand are deemed in approximate balance and an acute shortage is not foreseen within six months.

Flying Fortress bombers can climb to altitudes of 40,000 feet.

This is a message for men who have known life but no longer find it thrilling because of the lack of certain vitamins and hormones. Tremone, a recent medical discovery combining vitamins and hormones may multiply the zip and vest and enjoyment you once knew. Your whole approach, your whole attitude toward life, may improve when you begin to use Tremone. And it may be possible for middle-aged men to regain color, the same spirit, vitality and pleasures that made their youth a thing to remember. Added years need not subtract from your pleasures when you use Tremone, the new medical formula combining vitamins and hormones. Follow directions on label. Tremone for sale by Eckerd's Drug and druggists everywhere.

WHEAT, RYE WEAKEN AFTER GOOD START

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 29—After displaying some strength at the opening, wheat and rye futures eased today on selling encouraged by weak stock and cotton markets, where declines were recorded in connection with a statement by Stalin predicting early defeat of Germany. After holding steady most of the session, oats also tended to soften.

The wheat market was marked by a conspicuous lack of trading as buyers were restrained by optimistic crop and weather reports from the winter wheat belt and the pause in lend-lease buying of flour. Trade in rye also was rather quiet in later trade.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

A Sequel to Pitfalls of Love.

I HAD my answer ready for Hugh's question, but I did not speak for a second or two. After all, I told myself, the farmhouse belonged to my father, although, except for his own carefully cherished suite of rooms, I had not full sway as mistress of it, as my little mother would have had if she had lived to become reconciled to him after the tragedy of their early married life.

I knew that Hugh would not ask sanctuary unless the sternest necessity compelled him to the request. But I also knew that because of the close association he had had with my father in the government intelligence work, the Chief would not hesitate a second in putting all the facilities of the farmhouse at his disposal, and that I must function in my father's place.

Father's Suite

Of course we have" I said at last. "My father's suite has two large rooms, sitting room and bedroom, with bath adjoining. It is in a separate wing, and you can be as isolated from the rest of us, and from any chance conference-hate almost none of those no on account of the gas situation—as though you were out of the world."

"Good" Hugh Grantland commented. "It sounds like manna from Heaven. I only hope your father won't want his suite for awhile. But when I get word to him of what's afoot, I imagine he'll be too busy at that end to waste time in getting down here just now Later, of course--

He let his voice trail off, but I did not unleash my curiosity again.

"I take it," I said, "that you would like to go to your quarters as quickly as possible"

"I would like to get Lee Crow to bed—and both of us out of sight—within reasonable limits," he answered.

Rooms Ready

With a pardonable thrill of pride, I recalled the housewifely zeal with which on the day before I had cleaned my father's rooms thoroughly, even to fresh linen on the bed, fresh towels in the bath room. It is almost a feud with me that keeping of my father's quarters so that they are always ready for him, no matter what hour of the day or night he might come to them, and I thanked my particular little joss for my foresight as I talked to Hugh.

"You may go in less than ten minutes," I told him. "The bed in the bedroom is all made up ready for Lee Crow, and I will spread up a bed for you on the studio couch in the sitting room. It really is very comfortable and—"

"You will do nothing of the kind," Hugh Grantland interrupted. "If you will give me the bed linen for the bed—I haven't forgotten how to make a bed."

I opened my lip to protest, but didn't get a chance to let my voice reach.

"Not a word" Hugh said emphatically. "And while we're on the subject what about our wet clothing I'll come down to see to that as soon as I've got Lee Crow in bed"

Relatives

"You will do nothing of the kind," I said with a grim set with a ring of resolution in my voice I'll give in to you about the studio couch, because I know you'll want to get back as soon as possible, with ominous women murdering the place. But if for no other reason than keeping up Katie's morale—"

"Katie's morale?" he said in a puzzled tone, but with a glint of mirth in his eyes

"Morale is the word," I said I have taken over most of her household duties to leave her free for the farm work, but this time of year there isn't so much to be done outside as there will be later, and she would feel eternally disgraced if a man—a guest at that—should come down into the laundry and wash clothing."

"I should not wish to consign Katie to that fate," he said, then added seriously "But who is going to do that work, Katie, or you?"

I don't think Katie would trust me to do it," I evaded, but he brought me up roundly

I am waiting for the right answer" he said tersely, "otherwise I shall eternally disgrace Katie."

Evasion

"She will do it," I said with apparent docility, adding a mental evasion about helping Katie.

"Then we'll follow you upstairs now," Hugh said. "No, wait a minute Have you a small suitcase or Gladstone bag somewhere?"

"Yes, I have," I said. "Shall I get it?"

"Please" he said, and I raced upstairs to my room. But as I came near the room of my daughter, with whom I had left my small daughter, Faith, I checked my rushing pace, and came to a stop.

"Lee Crow is perfectly comfortable," I reflected, "and it won't do Major Hugh Grantland any harm to cool his heels for a minute or two"

I knocked upon the door, and hearing my mother-in-law say "Now, Faith, sit there and don't move Grandma'll open it."

CCC Extension Bill Signed by President

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 29—President Roosevelt yesterday signed into law the legislation continuing the life of the commodity credit corporation until June 30, 1945—without any anti-subsidy strings attached.

Previous legislation to continue CCC's general operations, but carrying a rider eliminating the administration's consumer subsidies on various food items, was given a presidential veto which the house sustained

Marion Army Nurse Shown in News Reel

The picture was taken last August when the nurses were on maneuvers near Port Knox, Ky. They were stationed at Bowman Field. Lt Roberts wrote her parents at the time of the filming and told them the picture would be released in five or six months.

In the news reel Lt Roberts could be most easily recognized by her parents and friends in a scene where the nurses had just finished washing their hands in a stream of water

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, March 1

AN EVENTFUL day, in which there may be surprise and commotion due to a suddenly presented opportunity to develop large, ambitious and enduring projects, possibly reaching into the distant future. This may involve change of place and surroundings, but major moves and alterations should be carefully considered before being undertaken. A spirit of influence and power. Intuitive ingenuity and constructive ability should come around 1 results if based on sound and enduring values. Extravagance and publicity should be avoided as they usually prevent the realization of worthy purposes, with grave consequences.

Those born today will be very likely to be of high mental caliber and possess unusual executive ability. They will be quick to grasp opportunities and make the most of them. They will be fond of change and travel, adventure and romance may be encountered early in life. They will be fond of home and interior comforts and should be fortunate in their choice of partners. They will be pleasant companions, considerate of others and should enjoy many periods of good fortune. Gifted by nature they will be well equipped to meet emergencies, practical and constructive ability should be useful and handy. The children from this date

AN' FIVE IS SEVENTY-FIVE-AN' TWO IS SEVENTY-SEVEN, THAT MAKES SEVENTY-SEVEN CENTS ALTOGETHER.
'COURSE, SEVENTY-SEVEN CENTS ISN'T SO VERY MUCH MONEY WHEN ITS ALL YOU GOT.
BUT THERE'S LOTSA POOR FOLKS WHO HAVEN'T ANY MONEY AT ALL— NOT EVEN A PENNY.
I'M ALWAYS SORRY FOR FOLKS WHO ARE SICK OR IN JAIL, BUT WHEN YOU'RE FREE AN HEALTHY YOU JUST DO YOUR STUFF AN' DON'T BE A BAWL BABY-
